ABOUT THE COLLEGE:

Smt Sharadchandrika Suresh Patil College of pharmacy, established in the year 1992 at Chopda (Maharashtra) is an NBA New Delhi Accredited B.Pharm course, AICTE, PCI approved & ISO 9001 – 2008 Certified Pharmacy institute, affiliated to North Maharashtra University Jalgaon (Maharashtra). We are running Undergraduate course and Post Graduate courses in Pharmaceutics & Pharmacognosy and have a track record of outstanding performances of its pass-outs in different spheres.

In a world where technology is changing very fast, it is indeed a challenging task to cater to the needs of industry for proficient manpower. We at SmtSSPCOP are working towards polishing this talent and to bring them out so that they can touch the sky. We earnestly hope that our student will be able to meet all the challenges given by your esteemed organisation as our ex- students have always made the college proud. Many of them are occupying key positions in many private and public sector undertakings in India and abroad and have brought laurels to the college.

Ubiquitous students of our institute, selected through a rigorous process, are amongst the best of the technical talent available. They are guided and trained through a constantly updated curriculum, by a highly qualified and experienced faculty, to meet the fast changing needs of the technology. Our laboratories are well equipped with modern, sophisticated instruments and machinery.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE:

In a constantly evolving healthcare environment, preparing students for a lifetime of change and emergent opportunities is a challenging responsibility in higher education. Pharmacy students must acquire needed knowledge, and couple it with personal and professional development skills, to allow for the development of well-rounded health care professionals capable of providing holistic patient care. These skills involve setting clear goals and action plans, identifying strengths and areas for improvement and reflecting on personal and professional progress. They ultimately equip the students with the needed tools to become lifelong learners. The outcomes to be expected were built around 4 broad domains to guide the education of pharmacists in 1) foundational knowledge, 2) essentials for practicing pharmacy and delivering patient-centered care, 3) effective approaches to practice and care, and 4) the ability to develop personally and professionally. This expansion emphasizes the necessity to develop students personally and professionally with a mindset of four skills, namely self-awareness, leadership, innovation and entrepreneurship, and professionalism

The Indian pharmaceutical sector, driven by increased knowledge skills, improved quality and increased demand (domestic and international), has witnessed tremendous growth over the past few years. India is among the top six producers of pharmaceuticals in the world and ranks fourth in terms of total pharma market share in the Asia Pacific. The country requires a large pool of skilled manpower to meet the growing demands of the growing Indian pharmaceutical industry.

Pharmacy education developed at a much faster rate in India since the late 1980s spurred by rapid growth, privatisation and economic growth in the sector. At present there are more than 1,500 institutions offering various pharmacy programmes at undergraduate, post graduate, diploma and Pharm. D level with a combined annual intake of more than 100,000 students. The availability of vast pool of technically skilled manpower and well-established state of art research units has made Indian pharma as global pharma destination for R&D activities. With successful implementation of post graduate programmes in hospital setting and research institutions, the ecosystem is encouraging the private sector to engage in R&D and develop innovative products should be carried out with the help of students.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVE:

The Conference provides policy guidelines on human resources development, education, training and lifelong learning. The key messages are: • Skills development is the shared responsibility of Pharma student as the future generation along with government, employers and individual workers, with social partners playing a critical role. • Skills are fundamental to, but not sufficient for, gaining decent jobs: linking skills with employment opportunities and decent work is critical, and skills need to be an integral part of economic growth and employment strategies. • Lifelong learning is an important goal to be pursued via specific programmes. • Equal opportunities for education and training must be provided to all, including those engaged in the informal economy

The conference will be successful in linking skills development to improved employability, productivity and employment growth have directed their skills development policies towards meeting two objectives: • matching demand and supply of skills; • sustaining a dynamic process of development of students by technical orientation.
